Create your very own soft, luxurious, hand dyed silk scarf!

Sensational Silk Scarves Workshop

February 18th 2012 or March 17th 2012

Create your very own design. As you learn this ancient art of silk painting with dyes, you will learn the basics of letting the dyes mix and blend to make fantastic colors and tones. You will be amazed at the way you will be able to make bold or soft values right before your eyes, as the dyes work together to make fabulous patterns on the silk.

Plan to join me and bring a friend along for this wonderful fun class!

Once individuals are exposed to silk painting, the immediate reaction is "I want to paint scarves"! In this class you will paint a silk scarf in a quick and easy way with detailed explanation.

If you know your colors, make sure to jot them down and bring them or if you have that special outfit you want to match, now you can! This is the stepping stone to learning how to paint on silk. You do not need to be artsy or an established artist to do this.

We all love to paint scarves, sell them, wear them and give them as gifts. The ideas presented will allow your work to be better appreciated as a piece of versatile wearable art. This knowledge will permit you to better sell your art to the general public and have fun in the process.

As an artist, I have been painting for the last 30 some years, and enjoying the art of silk painting. Adding to my collection of paintings and creating beautiful works as I am inspired by the dyes as they work together to create new and exciting dimensions and depth to my work. Now, I want to share that with you, so lets do it! Get started today by calling and registering!

My goal is to create independent silk artists and inspire them. Once they have acquired the basic skills they quickly join the "I can Do This" club and will go on to explore the art form in their own style. My hands-on classes are the best way to quickly get involved with silk painting.
